PROJECTS:

Elviro E-Commerce Web Application :

Fullstack Developer/UX Designer

Elviro is a furniture e-commerce web application designed for starting families, offering modern, comfortable, and low-maintenance furniture in earth tones to reflect the brand's safety for clients and the environment.

- UX Design
  - Conducted a user experience research and user persona, user journey and information architecture
  - Created a UX Design Prototypes in Figma, and made continual iterations over the design layout during development
- Frontend:
  - Adopted designs from Figma, converted them into clean code using HTML, CSS (Tailwind), and JavaScript with React, and seamlessly connected the frontend to backend APIs.
- Backend
  - Designed database and RESTful APIs, created data models using Node.js, Express.js, and Mongoose, utilized Postman for testing, and ensured CRUD operations interacted with MongoDB.

User Registration System:

Frontend Developer

- Developed a web application with separate admin and user sections: admins manage user information, while users can view their details.
